About

KSKidsMAP for Autism, Neurodevelopmental Disorders and Intellectual Disabilities (KANDID) is excited to announce the second annual KANDID workshop: Transitions to Adulthood. Directly following the KAFP Primary Care Health Summit, learn from child and adolescent psychiatrists, psychologists, developmental pediatricians, and other experts on challenges patients and families face as youth become adults. Topics include recognizing and treating existing and emerging psychiatric disorders, understanding common behavioral challenges, guardianship, transition of care to adult providers, resources for families and more! Open to all primary care physicians and clinicians, and behavioral health clinicians.
