

Personal Statement: Victoria Resendez, MD

I entered medicine to be an advocate, and throughout my career, I've worked to ensure my patients receive the care they deserve. As I've progressed, I've also realized how crucial the support and advocacy of my peers have been in my journey. I'm eager to join the Board of Directors as an at-large member to better advocate for my colleagues and help advance the goals of the KAFP and AAFP by representing their needs and concerns. I aim to gain the skills and insights needed to promote advocacy, support, and community for family physicians, ensuring they can continue providing essential care to patients.
